At 8 years she was already a veteran actress, going on the road with "The Little Red Schoolhouse" and a year later starring in "The Fatal Wedding." At 13 she played with Chauncey Olcott in "Edmund Burke" and her first appearance on Broadway was made under the auspices of David Belasco in "The Warrens of Virginia."

Her first screen appearance was in "Her First Biscuits" with Florence Lawrence and William Courtright (who again appeared with her in "My Best Girl" (1927); then the leading role in "The Violin Maker of Cremona" for Biograph; thence to Independent Motion Picture Company, again returning to Biograph. Belasco succeeded in winning her back to the stage the following season and presented her in "A Good Little Devil." In the spring of 1913 she made a film of the play for Famous Players and after that she rose rapidly to her present pre-eminence in motion pictures. She was vice president of Mary Pickford Famous Players Company in 1915 and appeared in the following pictures for that company: "A Good Little Devil," "Caprice," "Bishop's Carriage," "Tess of the Storm Country," "Hearts Adrift," "Such a Little Queen," "Eagle's Mate," "Behind the Scenes," "Fanchon the Cricket," "Cinderella," "Mistress Nell," "A Dawn of Tomorrow," "Rags," "Little Pal," "The Girl of Yesterday," "Poor Little Pippina," "Madam Butterfly," "The Foundling," "The Eternal Grind," "Hulda from Holland" and "Less Than the Dust."

In 1916 Mary Pickford Company was organized and she acquired one-half interest in the profits of her films which were released through Artcraft Pictures. Among these films were: "Pride of the Clan," "Poor Little Rich Girl," "Romance of the Redwoods," "The Little American," "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Little Princess," "Stella Maris," "Amarilla of Clothes Line Alley," "M'liss," "How Could You, Jean?" "Captain Kidd, Jr.," "Johanna Enlists." In 1918 Miss Pickford became an independent producer, making pictures for release through First National. These included "Daddy Long Legs," "The Hoodlum" and "Heart o' the Hills." Early in 1919, Mary became one of the organizers of United Artists Corporation, which organization releases her pictures today. First position as reporter on the New York Evening Mail, for two years, leaving to become associate editor of a magazine, Film Reports, organized in the interests of independent producers and exhibitors of the then exceedingly young and tender motion picture industry. A year later he accepted a dual post of publicity director and scenario writer with Rex Pictures Corporation, New York City, and after a year went with Adolph Zukor when Zukor launched his Famous Players Company in 1912. Thus Schulberg exploited the first feature length, big name motion picture sold in America, "Queen Elizabeth," with Sarah Berrhardt in the title role. First venture in feature length was "The Prisoner of Zenda." "Queen Elizabeth" was a French film, bought by Zukor for distribution in America. When Zukor's Famous Players Company combined with Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company in 1915 to become the Paramount Corporation, Schulberg retained his post of double duty. After several years with Paramount he made the decision to try his hand at independent production. During this period he saw the Elmer Clifton film, "Down to the Sea in Ships." Playing a minor role, that of a stowaway, was a little girl who attracted Schulberg's attention. He immediately wired his associate, who was in the East, with the result that Clara Bow came to Hollywood to play in the Schulberg company. In 1925, Schulberg rejoined Paramount in the capacity of associate producer, the first time this title was used in production circles, later becoming general manager of West Coast Production for Paramount. Resigned as managing director of production in June, 1932. Returned in September, 1932, to make individual, independent productions for Paramount as B. P. Schulberg Productions. In 1933: "The Girl in 419," "Jennie Gerhardt," "Her Bodyguard," "Three-Cornered Moon." He made his own photographic materials, spent six months in the laboratory of Dr. Hugo Smith in Zurich, Switzerland, and returned to America to triumph both in the making of photographic materials and as master photographer. In 1894 was invited by George Eastman to go to Rochester in capacity of sensitized goods expert. At that time Kodak Park, film plant of the Eastman Kodak Company, which now employs 10,000 workers had 65. His work in producing and improving emulsions for the various photographic purposes is called primarily responsible for the high quality of Eastman film and other Eastman sensitive materials. His responsibility for the conduct of the company steadily increased until he became vice-president but throughout this period his work was steadfastly devoted to the photographic quality of Eastman Kodak products. In 1926, when Eastman resigned the presidency of the company to become chairman of the directors, Stuber succeeded him. During his career, he has been elected to various directorates of banks and other industries. All of these he resigned when he became president of the Kodak Company. Lives in Rochester, N. Y. Resigned his position as President of the Eastman Kodak Company and the Board elected him chairman.

WARNER, ALBERT: Vice president and treasurer of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., and treasurer of Vitaphone Corporation; major in R. O. T. C.; b. Baltimore, Md.; e. in that city. As did the other brothers, Albert found work between school hours and thus received his first training in business. Leaving school he went to work with Swift and Company, the packers, and, for once and the only time, he was a competitor of his brother, Harry, who was with Armour and Company. Each of the Warner boys had a full share in making Warner success. When they opened their first theatre in Newcastle, Pa., Albert was ticket seller and looked after the finances. It also fell to his lot to be the salesman of the firm when the Warner brothers opened their film exchange. He then found his experience with Swift valuable. Again, when Warner Features was established, it was Albert who handled the sales. When the branch exchange was opened at Cleveland, Albert took charge of it. When the Warner firm fell on hard times and for a period the brothers had to separate, Albert took a position as film salesman with other firms and thus filled in the period until the brothers came together to produce "My Four Years in Germany." While the other members of the firm were getting the picture out, Albert applied high pressure methods and sold it before it was even finished. The success of "My Four Years in Germany" having once more put Warner Bros. on their feet, Albert took direct charge of the finances of the firm. It was no easy job, either, for while they were doing excellent business they were usually in need of ready money. It was the job of Albert to make it go as far as possible. In course of time the business of Warner Bros. had grown to such proportions it was necessary to organize Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. This gave the firm an opportunity to issue stock, the returns of which provided financial sinews of war for their ventures. It was under this banner that Warner Bros. developed the Vitaphone talking pictures. It was Albert who pored long and anxiously over the balance sheets to make both ends meet. In spite of their desperate plight, they did make ends meet and Albert stayed on the job every hour of the day until there was a clear road ahead. He continues to occupy his post as guardian of the treasury, now that success has come to Warner Bros., but aside from that takes a very direct interest in the selling of the business, which was his first work.

WARNER, HARRY M.: President, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.; b. in Russia; when but 6 years of age was brought to this country and settled in Baltimore; e. in that city. Opened up a bicycle shop in Youngstown, Ohio, early in 1900 when the bicycle craze was at its height. Having observed the new invention, motion pictures, the Warner brothers, under the leadership of Harry, determined to open a show of their own. After inspecting surrounding territory, Newcastle, Pa., was selected and they opened their first theatre, The Castle, in 1903. Always looking ahead the Warner brothers saw an opportunity for branching out in the film business. Under the executive head of Harry Warner they opened a film exchange in Pittsburgh to supply theatres with product. Again they were successful and eventually opened branches in nearby towns. Harry, as usual, was the head of the business, each of the other brothers having his own share in the work. Harry saw an opportunity to further extend their operations. They went into the market and bought feature pictures which were sold under the title Warner Features. As a result Warner Features became active competitors and had marked success. In course of time, owing to conditions beyond their own control, the Warners were compelled to abandon both their exchanges and Warner Features. Harry and his brothers went separate ways for the first time in many years, but this did not last for long. Again under the executive direction of Harry, the brothers joined together to produce James W. Gerard's book, "My Four Years in Germany," as a picture. The success of this production marked their first step to final success. During the development period of Vitaphone talking pictures as through the whole history of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., Harry was the executive head of the firm, which position he continues to hold. Was member, Code Authority.

WARNER, H. B.: Actor. b. St. John's Woods, London, England, Oct. 26, 1876; h. 6 feet ½ inch; fair hair and blue eyes; w. 168 pounds; e. Bedford, England, and University College, London. Stage experience. Screen work with Ince, McClure, Frohman, Jesse D. Hampton. Pictures include "Sorrell and Son," United Artists; "French Dressing," First National; Lewis Dyke in "The Dark Swan," First National; Dr. Cusick in "Tiger Rose," Warner; "The Divine Lady," "Wedding Rings," First National; "Trial of Mary Dugan," MGM; "The Doctor's Secret," Paramount; "King of Kings," Pathe; "The Argyle Case," "Conquest," "The Gamblers" and "Stark Mad," Warner; "Furies," First National; "Wild Company," Fox; "The Green Goddess," "The Second Floor Mystery," Warner; "On Your Back," Fox; (1932), "Cross Examination," Artclass; "The Menace," Columbia; "Charlie Chan's Chance," Fox; "Unholy Love," Allied; "The Crusader," Majestic. In 1933: "Supernatural," "Jennie Gerhardt," Paramount; "Her Sweetheart, Christopher Bean," MGM. In 1934: "Behold My Wife," Paramount; "Grand Canary," Fox; "Sorrell and Son." United Artists. In 1935: "Born to Gamble," Liberty; "A Tale of Two Cities," MGM. In 1936: "Rose of the Rancho," Paramount; "The Garden Murder Case," "Moonlight Murder," MGM; "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town," Columbia. In 1937: "Along Came Love," Paramount; "The Lost Horizon," Columbia.

WARNER, JACK L.: Vice-president in charge of production, Warner Bros.-First National Studios, Burbank, Cal.; b. London, Ontario, Can.; p. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Warner, non-professionals; e. Baltimore schools; m. Ann Page. When he had finished school he joined his brothers, Harry and Albert, in the opening of a bicycle shop at Youngstown, Ohio, and in that venture, being the youngest, he was errand boy, clerk and general handy man about the place. Then the time came when the Warner brothers opened their first theatre at Newcastle, Pa., where he felt at home, for he had developed a good tenor voice and used to sing illustrated songs. While not thus occupied he did the usual run of jobs that are necessary around a small theatre. At the time Warner Bros. opened its exchange at Pittsburgh and then established Warner Features, he again found a congenial field. He inspected the pictures that were being considered and on his judgment Harry Warner, then as now executive of the firm, rested his decision on them. When the Warners fell upon hard times and separated, Jack went to Hollywood and studied the methods of picture production, producing a series of Al St. John and Monte Banks comedies and also animal serials.

At the time when the Warner brothers joined again to produce "My Four Years in Germany," Jack had begun to find that production was his true field. He took an active part in the artistic direction of that picture which set the Warner Bros. on their feet and started them on the road to success. With the fortunes of the firm re-established, the Warner brothers decided they needed a studio on the West Coast and he went out to take an active part in its direction. He was later called East, during the development of Vitaphone, to participate in the perfection of the talking picture in which Sam Warner played a major part. After the success of Vitaphone was established and the making of Vitaphone pictures was moved to the Hollywood Studio, he took charge of their direction and production.

It has been largely due to the artistic vision of Jack Warner that so many fine pictures have emanated from the Warner Bros. studio. He is now vice president in charge of production for Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., and for the Vitaphone Corporation. In addition to having charge of the large Warner Brothers Hollywood Studio he is now also directing the operations of the First National Studio on the Coast. Appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933, as chairman of the NRA Board for State of California.

WEISS, ADOLPH: Treasurer of Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corporation. Born in New York City. Established himself in the early days in the Welsbach Lamp & Fixture business with a partner by the name of Samuel Goldhor at 3rd Avenue and 111th Street. Not finding this sufficient to occupy his time, he branched out into a new line of endeavor, the phonograph business. After acquiring the Edison and Victor franchises he opened up several retail stores in which to handle the phonograph and talking machine lines. He took both his brothers, Max and Louis, to work in these stores and gave them a general knowledge and training in this business, both brothers becoming partners. Subsequently he bought out the talking machine department of Western Electric Company and conducted the Victor Jobbing Agency at South 9th Street, Philadelphia, he having acquired the exclusive franchise for the handling of the entire Victor talking machine product for the Philadelphia territory. Just about the time he wanted to retire from the phonograph field, there loomed a great opportunity in the motion picture field. He consequently opened up a little store theatre with his brothers at Avenue A and 4th Street and later on developed a chain of moving picture theatres which he and his brothers operated very successfully for a great many years, later branching out into the producing field. For the past 16 years he has been connected with his brothers Louis and Max in the production end of the film business, having operated studios in New York and Hollywood. He is still treasurer of Artclass Pictures Corporation, is interested in and acting as president of the Hillcrest Golf Club in Jamaica and is also president of Hillcrest Manor and Utopia Park Villas in Flushing.

WEISS, JOSEPH: Exhibitor. Liberty and Capital Theatres, Pittsburgh. Represented unaffiliated subsequent runs on Pittsburgh Clearance and Zoning Board under NRA.

WEISS, LOUIS: Vice-president of Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corporation. Born in New York City. When he finished his schooling, he started with his brother, Adolph, in the Welsbach Lamp & Fixture line, later on taking over the management of phonograph stores in Philadelphia and New York. After spending several years in the phonograph business, he continued with his brothers in the management and operation of several phonograph and talking machine stores, later on becoming the manager of moving picture theatres owned and controlled by Weiss Bros. He also operated several exchanges and for the past 16 years has been engaged actively as vice-president and production manager of the various pictures made and distributed by Weiss Bros. Artclass Pictures Corporation. He also handled the distribution of hundreds of pictures—short subjects, serials and features—produced by his own companies. Was general manager of the DeForest Studios. Is in charge of Artclass production as well as sales. Is also interested with his brothers in the Hillcrest Golf Club as well as the other Jamaica and Flushing properties controlled by Weiss Bros. In 1934: Produced "Enlighten Thy Daughter," Exploitation Pictures. Produced three series of melodramas and westerns in 1935. Serials completed in 1936: "Custer's Last Stand" and "The "Clutching Hand." Serials in 1937: "Jungle Menace," "The Adventures of the Mysterious Pilot," "The Secret of Treasure Island," "The Great Adventures of Wild Bill Hickock."

WEISS, MAX: President of Artclass Pictures Corp. Born in New York City. After leaving high school he became associated with his brother in conducting the Welsbach Lamp & Fixture business and later on associated himself in the operation and management of several phonograph stores owned and controlled by his brother, Adolph. Later on he became actively engaged in the operation of a circuit of 15 moving picture theatres throughout greater New York, Jersey and Long Island. Conducted the Fulton theatre in Hempstead, L. I., running vaudeville, stock and motion pictures for many years. Has been actively engaged in the production and distribution end of the motion picture business for the past 16 years. Has handled domestic as well as all of the foreign business of Weiss Brothers Artclass Pictures Corporation, having made ten trips abroad, each time disposing of all the Artclass product. Is also acting as treasurer of the Hillcrest Golf Club in Jamaica and Hillcrest Manor and Utopia Park Villas property in Flushing.

At the age of 16 he emigrated to this country, where he became a sweeper in a fur store in New York City. Worked hard, studied diligently and advanced rapidly—an advance considerably hastened financially by his invention of a patented fur clasp. In 1892 he went to Chicago, where he became successful in the fur trade. Returned to New York in 1901 and in 1903 ventured with the late Marcus Loew in the penny arcade, a theatrical novelty then much in vogue. This was the foundation of the Marcus Loew Enterprises, of which Loew became the president and Zukor treasurer. In 1912 Zukor decided to form Famous Players Film Company. In the formation of this company he had the services of Daniel Frohman, one of the few leaders of the legitimate theatre who recognized the artistic possibilities of the screen. The first production of the new company was Sarah Bernhardt in "Queen Elizabeth." This was followed by James K. Hackett in "The Prisoner of Zenda" and these two were the first two feature pictures of multiple-reel length produced. The reception accorded these pictures by the public encouraged other producers to follow Zukor's example and in 1913 Jesse L. Lasky and other associates organized Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, with similar policy of producing multiple-reel photoplays based on wellknown plays and enacted by wellknown players. In 1916 Zukor's company, Famous Players Film Company, and Jesse L. Lasky's Feature Play Company combined under the name of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. At the same time, to insure the stability of the distribution outlet for the company's productions, Famous Players-Lasky Corporation absorbed Paramount Pictures Corporation, a distribution and sales organization. Thus Famous Players-Lasky Corporation not only produced but also sold its own pictures. Under Zukor's management and guidance some of most famous stars of the screen were developed. Erected theatres in the key cities of the country. This led eventually to the establishment, in 1926, of Publix Theatres Corporation, subsidiary of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. In 1927 Famous Players-Lasky changed its corporation name to Paramount Famous-Lasky Corporation and in 1930 to Paramount Publix Corporation. Today Paramount, through its subsidiary, owns a large number of theatres both in this country and abroad. The stock of Zukor's company was the first motion picture stock to be traded in on the New York Stock Exchange. Mr. Zukor was re-elected to the board of Paramount Publix at a meeting of the stockholders April 26, 1932. In June, 1935, when reorganization was completed under the name Paramount Pictures, Inc., he was elected chairman of the board. In 1935 elected president of Paramount Broadway Corp. Is also chief production executive.

ZUKOR, EUGENE J.: Assistant Treasurer, Paramount. b. Chicago, Ill., October 25, 1897. Money Making Stars of 1936

Shirley Temple repeated her triumph of 1935 in Motion Picture Herald's 1936 survey of "The Ten Biggest Money Making Stars." The independent exhibitors of the United States were asked to name the players whose pictures brought the largest grosses at their theatres from September 1, 1935 to September 1, 1936. The results:

Shirley Temple ..... First Place
Clark Gable ..... Second Place
*Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.. Third Place
Robert Taylor ..... Fourth Place
Joe E. Brown..... Fifth Place
Dick Powell ..... Sixth Place
Joan Crawford ..... Seventh Place
Claudette Colbert ..... Eighth Place
Jeanette MacDonald ..... Ninth Place
Gary Cooper ..... Tenth Place

* Exhibitors listing Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers divided in reporting them as a team and as individuals. The majority listed them as a team. Their team rating credits a full point for every vote registered for the team, plus one-half point for each vote for each individual. Their individual ratings in the tabulations are based upon individual votes without consideration for team votes.

In the compilations of the returns in the canvass to determine "The Biggest Money Making Stars of 1936," the ranking was based upon the number of points each player received, a mention for first place receiving 10 points, a mention for second place 9 points, and so on down to one point for a tenth place ballot. The percentages are drawn from the total pointages.

The All-Time Best Sellers

A study of the "best sellers" for all time in the now closely allied fields of the motion picture, legitimate theatre, books, and radio—a survey first made for the 1934-35 Motion Picture Almanac and now brought up to date—reveals the following highlights:

1. Forty-four best selling novels out of a list of 62 which sold 500,000 copies and over, have been made into motion pictures.
2. Twenty-seven legitimate theatrical productions out of a list of 38 having 500 performances and over in New York City, have been made into motion pictures.
3. The gross rental winner for all time in the motion picture industry is "The Singing Fool," one of the first sound pictures, produced by Warner Brothers and with a world total of $5,000,000.
4. The record New York run for legitimate plays is credited to "Abie's Irish Rose," with 2,532 performances. The play was viewed in 1937.
5. The legitimate roadshow record in the United States goes to Joseph Jefferson's production of "Rip Van Winkle," 16,000 performances estimated.
6. The best selling novel is "In His Steps," published in 1899, with a record sale of 8,000,000 copies.

MOTION PICTURES

In the following listing of motion pictures that have reached highest box office totals, more than one-half were silent productions. These figures denote the performance of straight road-shows, which started from a central point. The 15,000 performances of this play given herewith do not include those contributed by countless "tent" shows and stock performances. There were once 24 companies playing this at one time.

Richard Mansfield played "Cyrano" in his repertoire for over 20 years. The performances listed for this play are those of the Walter Hampden tours.

N. B.: All of these plays were picked at random and represent, for the most part, typical entertainment of the period. The figures on performances and box office grosses have been contributed by authoritative "old-time" roadshowmen.

Producers–Screen Actors Guild Basic Minimum Contract of 1937

AGREEMENT executed at Los Angeles, California, May 15, 1937, between the SCREEN ACTORS GUILD, INC., a California non-profit membership corporation, hereinafter called the "Guild," and such parties who are engaged in the production of motion pictures as may concurrently or hereafter become signatories hereto, hereinafter called the "Producers."

WITNESSETH

In consideration of the mutual agreements herein contained the parties agree as follows:

1. The Guild is recognized by the Producers, and each of them, as the exclusive collective bargaining agent for all actors in the motion picture industry. The Guild agrees that the Producers may terminate this contract at any time that the Guild is determined not to be the exclusive collective bargaining agent for actors by the National Labor Relations Board or by any court of competent jurisdiction. If the National Labor Relations Act is repealed and a substitute Act is enacted, the preceding sentence will apply to the substitute Act and to the substitute agency under such Act.

Guild Membership Requirements

2. Every actor hereafter employed by any Producer, whether by contract or otherwise, or who acts before the camera for any Producer, except as may be hereinafter provided, shall be a member of the Guild in good standing, subject to the following qualifications:

(a) If any actor now under contract to any Producer is not a member of the Guild and refuses to join the Guild, such actor shall be exempted from this paragraph 2 during the term of his existing contract as the same may be extended according to the existing terms thereof. Each Producer shall forthwith furnish the Guild with a list of all contract and stock players under contract to the Producer at the date of this contract. The Guild will then notify the Producer as to the names of such of said players as are not members of the Guild, whereupon the Producers will promptly furnish to the Guild the approximate expiration dates of the contracts of such non-Guild member players.

(b) Stars and featured players may be exempted from this paragraph 2 during the first five years of this contract, and during the first five years only, to the extent of ten per cent of the principal players in the cast of each picture produced by each Producer. Principal players means actors whose base rate of pay is $200.00 a week or more, but extras, stunt men and day players shall not be counted as principal players. Actors under qualification (a) shall be included in the calculation in computing the ten per cent of the cast who do not have to be Guild members in good standing under qualification (b). For example, if there are twenty principal players in the cast and two are not Guild members in good standing and come within qualification (a), the Producer is entitled to no additional non-members under qualification (b).

(c) During the first five years of this contract, and during the first five years only, if the cast of principal players is less than ten, one star or one featured player need not be a member of the Guild. If the star or featured player comes under qualification (a) no additional non-member is allowed under this qualification (c).

(d) In case of the exigencies of casting and as an extraordinary circumstance that shall not happen more than two times a contract year in the case of any Producer who produces forty pictures a year or more, and not more than once a year in the case of any Producer who produces less than forty pictures a year, the Guild will give a waiver that will allow stars and featured players to the extent of three in a cast to be non-members. This qualification only applies during the first five years of this contract.

Each Producer shall give the Guild full opportunity to check the performance of this paragraph, including access to sets, but the Guild's checking shall be done in such a manner as not to interfere with production. The Guild agrees that (I) it will accept as a member of the Guild any actor the Producer wishes to employ, subject to the imposition of reasonable terms in the case of members suspended by the Guild, or Actors' Equity Association, or the British Actors' Equity Association; (II) it will not impose unreasonable initiation fees, dues or assessments (exclusive of fines and penalties), and if the Producers claim a violation by the Guild of the provisions of this sentence, such question shall be determined by the committees provided for in paragraph 14 hereof and if such committees cannot agree the matter shall be settled by arbitration in accordance with the arbitration provisions of said paragraph 14. It is the intention hereof to prevent the Guild from closing its books so as to prevent any person who wishes to act in motion pictures from joining the Guild. Nothing in the preceding sentence shall limit the right of the Guild to discipline or suspend or expel a member or to refuse to re-admit him. The Guild agrees, however, that if it suspends or expels a member who is under contract to a Producer, or if a member resigns, the suspension, expulsion or resignation shall not affect the player's obligation to perform any existing contract or contracts with any producer or producers or such producer's or producers' right to demand performance, except with the producers' consent. Subject to the qualifications hereinbefore in all of this paragraph 2 set forth, the Producer agrees that in every future contract it enters into with an actor the actor shall agree that the actor shall be a member of the Guild in good standing and shall remain so for the duration of the contract; it being the intent hereof that any Producer may, without including such agreement, sign a star or featured player during such five-year period who refuses to become a member of the Guild, provided that in no event shall a Producer have in its employ stars or featured players not belonging to the Guild to the extent of more than ten per cent of the total number of stars and featured players in its employ; and provided, further, that a greater number of stars and featured players may not appear in any production than is provided for in subdivisions (b), (c) and (d) of this paragraph 2. No breach by a member of the Guild of his obligations to the Guild shall give such member a defense to any Producer's right to enforce an existing contract against such member.

Conditions of Employment

3. Each Producer agrees that the following conditions shall govern the employment of all extra players employed by the Producer and shall become a part of the contract with the extra player, namely:

(a) The rules governing extras contained in the Motion Picture Code under the National Recovery Act and the rules enacted pursuant thereto and the rules under California Industrial Welfare Commission Order No. 16-A shall become and are a part of this contract except as specifically to the contrary herein provided. The rules in said Order No. 16-A shall be extended so far as this contract is concerned to cover men.

(b) The $3.20 check for extras is abolished.

(c) The minimum pay per day for any extra player shall be $5.50. The minimum weekly rate for extras employed on a weekly basis shall be five times the daily rate for a six-day week. This applies to all extras and not merely the extras receiving $5.50 per day.

(d) The wage scale in force contained in the Motion Picture Code under the National Recovery Act and in the rules enacted pursuant thereto shall be increased ten per cent for all classes of extra players receiving thereunder up to and including $15.00 per day.

(e) The minimum compensation for stand-ins shall be $33.00 per week (six working days), or $6.50 per day.

(f) Straight time shall be paid for time actually consumed in traveling to and from location. Compensation for traveling time, however, shall not exceed one day's pay in any twenty-four hours. Travel time which occurs during the period for which the extra is compensated may be deducted from travel time.

(g) The Guild asked for the abolition of "weather permitting" calls. The Producers have refused this, and the parties have agreed that the committees hereinafter in paragraph 14 provided for shall work out rules governing such calls which shall correct any present inequities in the situation which may exist. Likewise such committee shall work out clarifications and adjustments of the National Recovery Act rules for extras.

(h) The term "extra player" or "extras" includes stand-ins, dancers, cowboys and all other classifications included under the term as used in the motion picture code under the National Industrial Recovery Act and the rules enacted pursuant thereto or under Industrial Order No. 16-A hereinbefore referred to, except stunt men who are specially treated in this agreement. In the case of locations three hundred miles or more from Los Angeles or from the studio base of operation of the picture, the Guild agrees to issue permits exempting persons who would otherwise be classified as "extras" hereunder from this agreement. The committees referred to in paragraph 14 shall immediately work out other proper exemptions such as the armed forces of the United States, and a case of a military academy used as a background, for which the Guild will also agree to issue like permits. In the case that the committees cannot agree, the matter will be settled by arbitration and the decision of the arbitrators when rendered shall be incorporated in this agreement and become a part hereof. The Guild will also issue permits exempting persons who would otherwise be "extras" under this agreement from this agreement for all shots made in the Republic of Mexico or the City or Port of San Diego. In the event that children of tender years are unable legally to join the Guild, the Guild will issue the necessary permits so that any Producer will not be hampered in using children in any production. The committees shall also determine what shall be done in regard to extras of the types of freaks, dwarfs, fire-eaters and similar types.

(i) All compensation paid to extras employed by the Producers through any agency shall be net to the extra except for such deductions or withholdings as may from time to time be provided by law; it being agreed that the Producers and not the extra shall bear the agency fee for obtaining employment and that the extra shall not be required by the Producers to pay such agency fee, directly or indirectly.

Extras

4. The Producers agree that reasonable access to the records of Central Casting Corporation or any agency used by the Producers, or any of them, for the employment of extras shall be afforded to the Guild. The agency referred to in the preceding sentence means only an agency used regularly or customarily by one or more Producers performing for such Producer or Producers substantially the same function as Central Casting Corporation, and does not mean agencies used casually and not generally. Records do not include the financial records of the agency.

Wages and Working Conditions

5. Each Producer agrees that the following conditions shall govern the employment of all day players employed by the Producer and shall become a part of the contract with the day player, namely:

(a) Sections 1 to 12, inclusive, of the present rules governing day players adopted by the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences printed on pages 8 and 9 of The Academy Bulletin of February 11, 1935, shall become and are a part of this contract except as specifically to the contrary herein provided.

(b) The arbitration provision in the Academy rules shall not govern, and the general arbitration clause hereinafter set forth shall apply.

(c) The minimum pay for day players shall be $25.00 per day.

(d) Straight time shall be paid for time actually consumed in traveling to and from location. Compensation for traveling time shall not exceed one day's pay in any twenty-four hours. Travel time which occurs during the period for which the day player is compensated may be deducted from travel time.

(e) The day player shall receive one-half of the daily pay agreed upon if he makes, or reports pursuant to call for, costume fittings or photographic or sound recording tests, and is not offered employment in the picture for which the fitting or test is made.

(f) The rule now in force in the industry that day players definitely engaged and not used receive a day's pay shall continue in force.

(g) Meal periods shall be not less than one-half hour nor more than one hour.

(h) Weather permitting calls. Same provision applies as under the paragraph on the subject concerning extras.

(i) Conversion to a weekly basis as specified in Rule 7 of the Academy Bulletin of February 11, 1935, shall be the same except it shall be on the minimum terms for free lance players hereinafter set forth, and under the free lance contract hereinafter described.

(j) Stunt men shall receive a minimum pay of Thirty-five Dollars ($35.00) per day, but the conditions concerning day players shall not apply to stunt men. The Committees hereinafter referred to in paragraph 14 shall work out rules covering the working conditions of stunt men and if said committee cannot agree, the matter shall be settled by arbitration and the determination of said committees or said arbitration from the date thereof shall become a part of this contract. Stunt men shall only be classified as such on the days when they are performing stunts.

Free Lance Players

6. The term "free lance players" as used herein shall mean players employed for a specific picture, on a weekly basis and at a weekly salary in excess of $65.00 per week. The Producers agree that the following conditions shall govern the employment of all free lance players employed by the Producers and shall become a part of the contract of the free lance player, namely:

(a) One picture employment for free lance players shall be at a weekly rate of compensation with a guaranty of at least one week's employment under the minimum contract hereinafter specified. The purpose of the foregoing is to entirely eliminate the so-called "deal contract," except that a "deal contract" may be made with any free lance player who receives $20,000.00 or more per picture.

(b) If the contract referred to in (c) hereafter is delivered by any Producer to any player and if the same is executed without alteration by the player and is so returned to the Producer by noon of the next succeeding business day after its delivery to the player, it shall thereupon constitute a contract binding on both parties even though not executed by the Producer, but the Producer on demand shall deliver a signed copy to the player.

(c) The Producer shall execute with the player a written contract containing the terms of the contract printed on pages 4-7, inclusive, of the Bulletin of The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences of February 11, 1935, except said contract shall be changed as follows:

I. Paragraph 15 concerning arbitration shall be omitted, and the substance of the Guild arbitration clause hereinafted in this contract set forth shall be substituted.

II. In respect to paragraph 27 concerning general right of termination, in every case of termination of the contract prior to the commencement of the term, the Producer shall be liable for compensation during the minimum guaranteed period, but if the player receives other employment during such period, the compensation received by the player from such other employment shall be applied in reduction of the Producer's liability. Said contract shall be changed accordingly.

III. With respect to paragraph 31, the rules of the Academy therein specified shall not apply, but the corresponding rules of this contract with respect to day players shall apply. Said contract shall be modified accordingly.

IV. With respect to free lance players receiving less than $200.00 per week, the player shall receive straight pay for overtime in excess of fifty-four hours worked in any week, beginning with the commencement of the contract, and continuing from week to week, and prorated in case of a pro rata week. The overtime shall be paid on the basis of 1/48th of the weekly salary for each hour or fraction of an hour worked in any week in excess of 54 hours, and in case of a pro rata week the 54 hours shall be prorated accordingly. Hours of work shall be computed in accordance with Rule 2(a) on page 8 of the Academy Bulletin of February 11,1935, which rule has been previously incorporated herein for day players. Nothing herein, however, shall limit the free lance player's right to a twelve-hour rest period and to holidays as granted by paragraphs 18 and 19 of page 6 of said Academy Bulletin of February 11, 1935, and incorporated herein. The rights granted hereunder are additional and cumulative. Said contract shall be modified accordingly.

V. The heading of said contract shall be changed to read as follows: "Screen Actors Guild Minimum Contract for Free Lance Players—Continuous Employment—Weekly Basis—Weekly Salary— One Week Minimum Employment." In bold face type at the top of the contract shall be printed the following: "The actor may not waive any provision of this contract without the written consent of the Screen Actors Guild."

Access to Call Bureau Records

7. Reasonable access shall be afforded the Guild to the records of the Call Bureau or to any similarly constituted substitute owned or controlled by any Producer therefor.

Stock Players

8. The Producer agrees that every contract hereafter entered into with a stock player shall conform to the following rules and contain in substance the following terms, which shall be a part of such contract whether or not contained therein:

(a) The minimum rate of salary for stock players shall be $50.00 per week.

(b) Return transportation shall be furnished the stock player, if brought to California from outside the state, if his salary is less than $75.00 a week, if he does not secure other employment in or about Los Angeles, California, and if his return trip is commenced within fifteen days after the termination of his employment by the Producer.

(c) Where a contract to employ a stock player has been executed, the player shall not be required to work without compensation after the date of the execution of the contract or after the commencement of employment thereunder. This includes a prohibition against free tests for stock players after the date of the execution of such contracts or after the commencement of employment thereunder. Option test agreements are not to be construed as contracts to employ.

(d) The suspension period specified in the "Acts of God" clause of stock player contracts shall be limited to four weeks; provided, however, that Producers shall have the right to continue such suspension from week to week not exceeding eight additional weeks at one-half salary.

(e) The cancellation period specified in the illness clause shall not be less than a period or aggregate of periods of three weeks per year.

(f) Lay-offs shall be for at least one consecutive week, subject to recall for retakes and added scenes. Any lay-off period falling at the end of a contract period may be for a shorter time.

Effect on Contracts

9. Every contract hereafter entered into by a Producer with a contract player shall embody the substance of subparagraphs (e) and (f) of paragraph 8 hereof, and such terms shall be deemed to be contained therein whether so specifically incorporated therein or not.

Use of Stage or Screen Name

10. No Producer shall after the termination of the player's employment prevent such player from continuing the use of any stage or screen name used by such player. The name of a role owned or created by the Producer, such as Tarzan or Charlie Chan, belongs to the Producer and not to the actor.

Holiday Pay Rate

11. Stock players and term contract players, if required to render services on New Year's Day, Decoration Day, July Fourth, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day or Christmas, or if required to render services on either the Sunday immediately preceding or the Sunday immediately succeeding any such holiday shall be entitled to an additional one-sixth of the weekly rate. The foregoing, however, shall not apply to stock players or contract players whose compensation is paid to them on a picture basis, or whose contract provides the maximum number of pictures in which such actor can be employed per year or other specified period.

Waiver of Contract

12. The Producers agree that no waiver by any actor of any term of this contract shall be requested of the actor or effective unless the consent of the Guild to the making of such request and such waiver is first had and obtained. Such consent may be oral but the Guild agrees that all oral waivers will be confirmed by it in writing. The Guild further agrees that upon being notified by any Producer that a company is going on location, it will appoint a deputy to be with the company on location, with full power to grant such waivers. The Guild further agrees that it will maintain a twenty-four hour service at Los Angeles, California, for the giving of waivers in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph.

Term of Contract

13. The term of this contract shall be ten years from the date hereof. On April 1st of each calendar year during this contract, commencing in 1938, a meeting will be held at Los Angeles, California, between a committee to be appointed by the Guild and a committee to be appointed by the Producers. The said committees shall at said meeting discuss such modifications of this agreement as may be suggested by either committee, and submit recommendations to the Guild and to the Producers, and if such recommendations are concurred in by the Guild and the Producers, they shall become a part of this contract. If the committees cannot reach an agreement, either committee may demand arbitration on the following subjects, and on the following subjects only, namely:

(a) Minimum salaries for extras, day players, stunt men and stock players.

(b) Hours of labor for actors receiving $500.00 a week or under. This includes actors employed by the day receiving $83.33 per day or under.

The arbitration shall be by a Board of three arbitrators, one chasen by the Guild, one by the Producers and the third jointly chosen, and in default of agreement the third arbitrator shall be chosen by the Board of Directors of the American Arbitration Association. The decision of the arbitrators on the subject hereinbefore permitted to be arbitrated shall be final and the conditions imposed by such arbitration relating to such subjects shall become a part of this agreement from the time of the decision of the arbitrators, or from such time as the arbitrators shall decide that they shall become effective.

Committees

14. The Guild shall forthwith appoint a committee and the Producers shall forthwith appoint a committee to perform the functions specified in subdivisions (g) and (h) of paragraph 3, subdivisions (h) and (j) of paragraph 5, paragraph 25, and paragraph 29 of this agreement. In default of agreement between the two committees the matters left open for clarification and further definition in said paragraphs shall be settled by arbitration by a board of three arbitrators, one chosen by the Guild, one by the Producers and the third jointly chosen, and in default of agreement, the third arbitrator shall be chosen by the Board of Directors of the American Arbitration Association. The decision of the arbitrators on the subjects to be arbitrated under this paragraph shall be final and the conditions and definitions fixed by them shall become a part of this agreement from the date of the decision of the arbitrators, or from such date as they shall fix in said decision for the conditions and definitions to become effective.

Strikes

15. The Guild agrees that during the term hereof it will not call or engage in a strike affecting motion picture production against any producer signatory hereto, and will order its members to perform their contracts with the Producers signatory hereto even though other persons or groups of persons are on strike.

Joint Conciliation Committee

16. A joint conciliation committee of four, two to be appointed by the Guild and two by the Producers, shall sit within seven days after call to attempt to conciliate any dispute between any Producer and any actor with respect to which dispute arbitration is herein provided for. If conciliation fails all such disputes shall be settled by arbitration in accordance with the laws of the state of California, to be supplemented or modified by such rules as may be agreed upon by a committee to be appointed by the Producers and a similar committee to be appointed by the Guild. Pending the agreement of such committee the arbitration shall be by three arbitrators, one to be selected by the Guild, one other by the Producers, and the third to be chosen by the two first selected. In the event of the inability of the first two arbitrators to agree upon the selection of the third, the third arbitrator shall be designated by the American Arbitration Association. It is understood that this agreement provides for arbitration only in the case of extras, stunt men, day players, and free lance players. Recognizing with respect to stock players and contract players the desirability of arbitration in connection with disputes not involving the right of termination of the contract or the right to injunctive relief, the joint committee provided for in paragraph 14 will endeavor to work out and recommend the adoption by the signatories of a proper basis for the arbitration of such disputes, but such basis shall not be the subject of arbitration. The Guild and the Producers agree to cooperate in facilitating the prompt settlement of disputes without resort to the machinery provided for in this paragraph. Any complaint may be presented for any member of the Guild by the Guild. The Producers agree not to discriminate in any way against an actor presenting a complaint.

Future Contracts

17. All future contracts entered into by the Producers shall, in so far as they are affected by any of the provisions hereof, be deemed to include such applicable provisions for the benefit of the actors or Producers who are parties thereto. This contract may be referred to as the "Producer-Screen Actors Guild Basic Minimum Contract of 1937."

Negotiations

18. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any actor from negotiating with and obtaining from any Producer better terms than are herein provided for.

Existing Contracts

19. This contract does not apply to contracts now existing between the Producers and actors. Within sixty days after receipt by the Guild of the written notice provided for in paragraph 2 hereof any actor under such written contract who is or has become a member of the Guild may give the Producer written notice that he elects to come under the terms of this contract and thereupon he shall be subject to the terms hereof applicable to such contract and such terms hereof shall be deemed incorporated in the existing contract between the Producer and the actor and shall supersede all conflicting provisions in said contract. Any actor notifying any Producer, pursuant to the provisions of this paragraph, of the actor's election to come under the terms of this contract, by such election agrees that any resignation from the Guild, or suspension or expulsion by the Guild, shall be equivalent to a failure, refusal or neglect on the part of such actor to comply with his existing contract with the Producer and shall give to the Producer the same rights and remedies as are provided in such existing contract in the event of failure, refusal or neglect by the actor to comply with his obligations thereunder.

Ratification

20. This contract shall be ineffective for any purpose as to any corporate Producer until ratified by the Board of Directors of such Producer, except in the following respects, namely:

(a) Subject to the qualifications hereinabove in paragraph 2 set forth, the Producer agrees that from and after the date hereof every contract it enters into with an actor for a period of twelve (12) weeks or more, or which gives the Producer an option on the services of the actor for a period of twelve (12) weeks or more, shall provide that the actor agrees that the actor shall be a member of the Guild in good standing and shall remain so for the duration of said contract.

(b) Beginning June 1, 1937, the Producers shall operate under the terms of this contract. On or before June 10, 1937, each Producer shall notify the Guild in writing whether or not its Board of Directors has ratified this contract. If a Producer notifies the Guild that its Board of Directors has ratified the contract, then from and after such date the contract shall be in full force and effect, except that the June 1, 1937, commencement date of working conditions shall still apply. If the Producer notifies the Guild that the Board of Directors has refused to ratify this contract, then immediately this contract shall be ineffective for all purposes.

Disciplining Members

21. Subject to the limitations hereinabove in paragraph 2 set forth, nothing herein shall be so construed as to prohibit the Guild from disciplining its members under rules and regulations to be established by it, but the imposition by the Guild of such discipline shall in no manner or to any extent deprive the Producer of such rights as it may have under any contract with any player who may be subject to discipline or from enforcing the provisions thereof as against any such player.

Interference with Production

22. With respect to all pictures in production on the date on which this agreement goes into effect, the Guild will issue all permits necessary to avoid interference with production.

Effect of Changes

23. This agreement shall be binding on the signatories hereto and all parties who by reason of mergers, consolidations, reorganizations, sale, assignment or the like shall succeed to or become entitled to a substantial part of the production business of any signatory. Each Producer agrees that its signature to this agreement shall likewise bind subsidiary and controlled companies engaged in the production of motion pictures to the terms of this agreement. This agreement may be executed in any number of counterpart originals, each counterpart to have the same effect and all such counterparts shall be considered together as one agreement.

New York Production

24. With respect to motion picture production in and around the city of New York, New York, by any Producer such motion picture production shall be exempt from this agreement until the Guild establishes a New York office, at which time it will come under the terms of this agreement.

Territorial Limits

25. The operation of this agreement shall be limited to motion picture production within the territorial limits of continental United States of America exclusive of Alaska, provided, however, that the committees provided for in paragraph 14 shall attempt to work out rules covering motion picture production outside the United States of America by any Producer and if the committees cannot agree the matter shall be settled by arbitration and the agreement of the committees or the decision of the arbitrators shall become a part of this agreement in like manner as provided in paragraph 14.

Children in Production

26. In the event that children of tender years are unable legally to join the Guild, the Guild will issue the necessary permits so that any Producer will not be hampered in using children in any production.

Application of Own By-Laws

27. The Guild agrees that if there is anything in its article of incorporation or its by-laws which will prevent it from performing its obligations hereunder that it will take proper steps to amend such articles or by-laws so as to correct any such defect, and the Guild further agrees that during the term of this agreement it will not adopt any code for actors or any amendment to its articles or by-laws which will be in conflict with its obligations under this agreement. The Guild agrees that it will cause its by-laws to be amended to provide that each of its members shall be bound by the provisions of this agreement.

Applicability

28. Any person now or hereafter engaged in the business of producing motion pictures in the United States shall be afforded the opportunity of becoming signatory to this agreement either by signing this agreement or counterparts thereof. Nothing herein contained is intended nor shall it be construed as intended to prevent the Guild from entering into contracts with any such persons on terms more favorable to such persons than are afforded to the signatories hereto.

Meanings of Terms

29. Unless otherwise specifically defined herein terms shall be given their common meaning in the motion picture industry. "Actor" includes "extra." The masculine gender includes the feminine and neuter, and the singular number the plural, when such construction is a reasonable one. "Day player" is a player employed by the day other than an extra or stunt man. A "stock player" is a player employed for more than a specific picture and for a term of at least twelve weeks (with or without lay-offs) who receives less than $150.00 a week. A "contract player" is a player employed not for a specific picture but for a term of at least twelve weeks (with or without lay-offs) who receives $150.00 a week or more. The committees referred to in paragraph 14 hereof shall work out appropriate rules for actors who do not come within any of the foregoing definitions or within the definition of a "free lance player" hereinabove in paragraph 6 set forth and the same provision as to agreement and arbitration shall apply as in other cases to be determined by the committees under paragraph 14.

Arbitrators

30. Wherever provision is made herein for the appointment by the Producers of committees or arbitrators such appointment shall be made by the mutual consent of the Producers signatory hereto. However, if any such Producer shall not agree as to any such appointment, such Producer, either separately or jointly with any other Producer or Producers who are unable to so agree, may appoint committees or arbitrators, as the case may be, of its or their own choosing, and in such event the committees or arbitrators so separately appointed shall function for and in behalf and only for and in behalf of the Producer or Producers who shall have made such separate appointment, and the discussions, negotiations and arbitrations with respect to which such separate appointment shall have been made shall, as to the Producer or Producers who shall have made such separate appointment, be conducted with the committee or arbitrator so separately appointed, and the agreement or decision reached thereunder shall be binding upon the Guild and the Producer or Producers who shall have made such separate appointment but upon no other Producer or Producers. The Guild in such a case may appoint a separate committee or arbitrator, as the case may be, to deal with each separate committee or arbitrator appointed by the respective Producers but need not do so, and if it so desires may designate one committee and arbitrator to deal with the several committees or arbitrators of the several Producers. Arbitration as herein referred to does not mean the kind of arbitration covered in paragraph 16.

Separate Agreement

31. Except as joint action by the Producers in the appointment of committees or arbitrators is provided herein (but limited by paragraph 30) this agreement shall be construed as a separate agreement between the Guild and each Producer signatory hereto, and it is expressly agreed that no default or breach of this agreement by any Producer shall constitute a default or breach hereunder by, or impose liability on, any other Producer, and it is further expressly agreed that a default of the Guild as to one Producer shall not constitute a default of the Guild as to any other Producer. This agreement is a several agreement as to each Producer, and is not joint and several.

Mutual Waiver

32. Whenever the Producers are entitled hereunder to a permit or waiver from the Guild, the Guild agrees to issue the same without cost.

Exemption

33. News reels, travelogues, news and sports commentators and persons rendering similar services in short subjects shall be exempted from the operation of this agreement; provided, however, that the committees provided for in paragraph 14 shall attempt to work out rules governing such productions and persons, and if the committees cannot agree the matter shall be settled by arbitration and the agreement of the committees or the decision of the arbitrators shall become a part of this agreement in like manner as provided in paragraph 14.

Majority Decisions

34. In any arbitration pursuant to the provisions of this agreement, the decision of a majority of the arbitrators shall be final, and such decision shall be in writing.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties hereto have executed this instrument.

UNDER CONTRACT TO PARAMOUNT

PRODUCTION CODE OF ETHICS

The Production Code Administration, a reincarnation of the Studio Relations department of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., began to function July 1, 1934, under the industry's revised plan of self-regulation, with Joseph I. Breen as director. His findings are subject to review only on appeal to the company presidents of member companies in New York.

The producers of motion pictures recognize the high trust and confidence placed in them by the people of the world and which have made motion pictures a universal form of entertainment.

They recognize their responsibility to the public because of this trust and because entertainment and art are important influences in the life of a nation.

Hence, though regarding motion pictures primarily as entertainment without any explicit purpose of teaching or propaganda, they know that the motion picture within its own field of entertainment may be directly responsible for spiritual or moral progress, for higher types of social life, and for much correct thinking.

During the rapid transition from silent to talking pictures they have realized the necessity and the opportunity of subscribing to a code to govern the production of talking pictures and of reacknowledging this responsibility.

On their part, they ask from the public and from public leaders a sympathetic understanding of their purposes and problems and a spirit of cooperation that will allow them the freedom and opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all the people.

General Principles

1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the standards of those who see it. Hence, the sympathy of the audience should never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin.

2. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented.

3. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

Particular Applications

I—Crimes Against the Law.

These shall never be presented in such a way as to throw sympathy with the crime as against law and justice or to inspire others with a desire for imitation.

1. Murder.
   a. The technique of murder must be presented in a way that will not inspire imitation.
   b. Brutal killings are not to be presented in detail.
   c. Revenge in modern times shall not be justified.
2. Methods of crime should not be explicitly presented.
   a. Theft, robbery, safe-cracking, and dynamiting of trains, mines, buildings, etc., should not be detailed in method.
   b. Arson must be subject to the same safeguards.
   c. The use of firearms should be restricted to essentials.
   d. Methods of smuggling should not be presented.
3. Illegal drug traffic must never be presented.
4. The use of liquor in American life, when not required by the plot or for proper characterization, will not be shown.

II—Sex.

The sanctity of the institution of marriage and the home shall be upheld. Pictures shall not infer that low forms of sex relationship are the accepted or common thing.

1. Adultery, sometimes necessary plot material, must not be explicitly treated, or justified, or presented attractively.
2. Scenes of passion.
   a. They should not be introduced when not essential to the plot.
   b. Excessive and lustful kissing, lustful embracing, suggestive postures and gestures, are not to be shown.
   c. In general, passion should be so treated that these scenes do not stimulate the baser element.
3. Seduction or rape.
   a. They should be never more than suggested, and only when essential for the plot, and even then never shown by explicit method.

b. They are never the proper subject for comedy.
4. Sex perversion or any inference to it is forbidden.
5. White slavery shall not be treated.
6. Miscegenation (sex relationships between the white and black races) is forbidden.
7. Sex hygiene and venereal diseases are not subjects for motion pictures.
8. Scenes of actual child birth, in fact or in silhouette, are never to be presented.
9. Children's sex organs are never to be exposed.

III—Vulgarity

The treatment of low, disgusting, unpleasant, though not necessarily evil, subjects should be subject always to the dictate of good taste and a regard for the sensibilities of the audience.

IV—Obscenity.

Obscenity in word, gesture, reference, song, joke or by suggestion (even when likely to be understood only by part of the audience) is forbidden.

V—Profanity.

Pointed profanity (this includes the words, God, Lord, Jesus, Christ—unless used reverently—Hell, S. O. B., damn, Gawd), or other profane or vulgar expressions, however used, is forbidden.

VI—Costumes

1. Complete nudity is never permitted. This includes nudity in fact or in silhouette, or any lecherous or licentious notice thereof by other characters in the picture.
2. Undressing scenes should be avoided, and never used save where essential to the plot.
3. Indecent or undue exposure is forbidden.
4. Dancing costumes intended to permit undue exposure or indecent movements in the dance are forbidden.

VII—Dances.

1. Dances suggesting or representing sexual action or indecent passion are forbidden.
2. Dances which emphasize indecent movements are to be regarded as obscene.

VIII—Religion.

1. No film or episode may throw ridicule on any religious faith.
2. Ministers of religion in their character as ministers of religion should not be used as comic characters or as villains.
3. Ceremonies of any definite religion should be carefully and respectfully handled.

IX—Locations.

The treatment of bedrooms must be governed by good taste and delicacy.

X—National Feelings.

1. The use of the Flag shall be consistently respectful.
2. The history, institutions, prominent people and citizenry of other nations shall be represented fairly.

XI—Titles.

Salacious, indecent or obscene titles shall not be used.

XII—Repellant Subjects.

The following subjects must be treated within the careful limits of good taste:

1. Actual hangings or electrocutions as legal punishments for crime.
2. Third degree methods.
3. Brutality and possibly gruesomeness.
4. Branding of people or animals.
5. Apparent cruelty to children or animals.
6. The sale of women, or a woman selling her virtue.
7. Surgical operations.

ADVERTISING CODE

1. We subscribe to the Code of Business Ethics of the International Advertising Association, based on "truth, honesty and integrity."

2. Good taste shall be the guiding rule.

3. Illustration and text in advertising shall faithfully represent the pictures themselves.

4. No false or misleading statement shall be used directly or implied.

5. No text or illustration shall ridicule or tend to ridicule any religion or religious faith.

6. The history, institutions and nationalities of all countries shall be represented with all fairness.

7. Profanity and vulgarity shall be avoided.

8. Pictorial and copy treatment of officers of the law shall not be of such a nature as to undermine authority.

9. Specific details of crime, inciting imitation, shall not be used.

10. Motion picture advertisers shall bear in mind the provision of the Production Code that use of liquor in American life be restricted to the necessities of characterizations and plot.

11. Nudity with meretricious purpose, and salacious postures, shall not be used.
